

Spiritual Life in the 9-to-5

July 2016

Overview and Housekeeping

Self-Introductions

Wishes (long term and today): to get, to give, to experience.

Part I: Define your for-profit career as a way to do Real Good in the world.

“Work-Life Balance” and Heart within Heart

Examples(?) of Good/Evil/Mixed/Neutral/Unknown

“Accounting” and its Paradoxes

Not everything that can be counted is important, and vice versa

Knowing the score without keeping it

Part II: Make it a Spiritual Practice to ask, “What am I called to do?” and “How am I called to do it?”

What am I called to do?

The question

The answer(s)

Ways to ask/hear, interpret

Make real

Trade-offs and uncertainties

How am I called to do it?

The question(s)

The answer(s)

Ways to ask/hear, interpret

Make real (“loaded with touches/blessings”)

Trade-offs and uncertainties

Part III: Create a career that lets you do good through (a) what you sell and (b) how you make and sell it.

The Venn of you and your employer/customers

you and your staff/employees

What you “sell” and its impacts

On yourself

On others (across the network of stakeholders)

On the greater environment

How you work and its impacts

On yourself

On others

On the greater environment

Challenges and responses

Part IV: Next Steps – Reflection, Action, Commitment

Intention, Attention, and How Good Do We Have to Be?
